The Salvation of Non-Christians:
Studies in Theology of Religions

Instructor: Prof. Dr. Najib George Awad
Associate Professor of Christian Theology

- Course’s Description: In the light of the multi-religions and multi-faiths worldly context, wherein we live today, the questions of how the Christians view other religions, and how they view God’s stance on other faiths, become of a crucial importance and primary relevance. This course attempts, first, to introduce students to the main exclusivist, inclusivist, and pluralist trends of thought on other religions within the field of study called “theology of religions.” Second, it takes them more specifically into the question of the salvation of the non-Christians and explores with them a possible pneumatological-trinitarian hermeneutics of Christian soteriology that endeavors to exceed the theologically narrow, and seemingly inter-religiously controversial boundaries of Christocentric theology.

- Course’s Objectives:
  At the end of the course the students would:
  1- acquire knowledge of the basic components of the exclusivist, inclusivist and pluralist approaches in this field of study.
  2- analyze and perceive the core argument of every approach in the field
  3- would be exposed to parallel approaches to other religions in Islam and see how the trends of exclusivity, inclusivity and plurality find traces in a non-Christian thought
  4- would practice, by means of the presentations and the term papers, an attempt to present some theology of religions’ discourses to religious communities or lay audiences in an accessible and relevant manner.

- Course’s Object in Relation to the Study Program (MA #1):
At the end of the course the students would have the chance to 1- To acquire foundational and critical knowledge of Christian religion.
  2- To accumulate knowledge of the practices of Christian religious tradition
  3- To acquire knowledge and skills for dialogical and constructive engagement with diversity.
- Required Readings During the Course’s Sessions: parts of chapters or essays are going to be read, studied and presented by the students from these books during the sessions. The texts that are available in the library would be availed to the students on the course’s shelf in the library. Other texts that are not available in the library would be provided by the instructor in hard copies form, and they would also be placed on the course’s shelf in the library. The students are encouraged, before and during the course, to acquaint themselves with one of the following basic introductory texts on the subject. They texts are not required, yet highly recommended

- Course Requirements and Assessment Expectations

1) \textit{Assigned readings’ preparation and active class participation}: Students are required to read these texts as thoroughly and perceptively as they can and then to demonstrate an active class participation by coming to the sessions with questions or comments on them and the taught materials therein.

2) \textit{Presentations}: the students are required to prepare a presentation on one of the listed topics in the course’s outline. The instructor would ask the students to sign in for the required presentations during the first introductory session of the course. The presentation must be no more than 45 minutes long. The second 45 minutes or so of the session would be spent in open discussion between the presenter and the classmates over the texts’ contents and aspects related to their subjects. The students are free to use any audio-visual or material they find useful in performing their presentations. Every presenter must:

A- present the content of the readings perceptively and coherently and to make sure that every main argument in the texts have been given fair presentation before his/her class-mates.
B- give his/her own appraisal and point of view on the text’s subject and claims.
C- attend to the questions of the classmates in a way that would invite for further discussion.

2) Term Paper: students are expected to write 12-15 pages-long papers (foot/endnotes, bibliography, outlines, are excluded). Every student is to imagine that he or she was invited to read an essay/give public lecture to a church/mosque/religious community or lay religious audiences on the theology of religious approach he or she made a presentation on. Every essay must:

A- introduce lucidly and correctly the field of study called ‘theology of religions’
B- present in a lucid and interesting way a specific theology of religions’ approach (i.e. of the scholar which the student already made the presentation on)
C- displays the importance/problematic influences of this approach and its relevance/irrelevance and validity/invalidity in today’s human religious life.

The students must submit their essays to the instructor on April 30, 2018.

- Grading Division:

1- reading’s preparation and class participation
2- Presentation:
3- Term Paper:

- Grading Criterion

Students are graded using the A, B, C, or F system, with “+” and “−” markings allowed. For purposes of this course, these grades mean:

A (95-100) Demonstrates excellent mastery of the subject matter, a superior ability to articulate this, and provides helpful connections to daily life or contemporary issues. Exceeds expectations of the course.
A- (90-94) Demonstrates mastery of the subject matter, ability to articulate this well, and makes connections to daily life or contemporary issues. Exceeds expectations of the course.

B+ (87-89) Demonstrates a very good understanding of the subject matter, able to articulate lessons learned in the assignment well. Meets expectations of the course.

B (83-86) Demonstrates an understanding of the subject matter and the ability to articulate lessons learned. Meets expectations of the course.

B- (80-82) Demonstrates an understanding of the material at hand, has some difficulty articulating this, and basic connection of the material to daily life or contemporary issues/life. Meets basic expectations for the course.

C+ (77-79) Demonstrates a basic comprehension of the subject matter, weak articulation and connections. Does not meet expectations for the course.

C (70-76) Demonstrates a minimal comprehension of the subject matter and has difficulty making connections. Does not meet expectations of the course.

F (below 70) Unable to meet the basic requirements of the course.

Auditors are welcome to participate in discussion and assignments to the degree they wish and should clarify their intent with the instructor, but their work will not be graded.

- Additional Policies:

1) Attendance: Active attendance in class is required. If you know you will be unable to attend a class session please inform the professor in advance. Missing two sessions will result in an automatic lowering of your final grade by 10%. Missing three or more sessions will result in automatic failure of the course. 3 - 4 or more absences --- without a serious reason should be an automatic failure.

2) Plagiarism: Academic honesty and integrity are expected of all students. Plagiarism exists when: a) the work submitted was done, in whole or in part, by anyone other than the one submitting the work, b) parts of the work, whether direct quotations, ideas, or data, are taken from another source without acknowledgement, c) the whole work is copied from another source [especially a web based source], or d) significant portions of one’s own previous work used in another course. See “Plagiarism” at http://www.hartsem.edu/current-students/policies/

3) Appropriate Classroom Etiquette and Use of Technology: In order to respect the community within the classroom: 1) Mute all cell phones during class; 2) Utilize laptops for the sole purpose of taking class notes. Please do not surf the web, email, or other programs during class time. Such use of the computer during class is disrespectful of the class and professor, and may result in lowering your participation grade.

4) Inclusive Language: Hartford Seminary is committed to a policy of inclusion in its academic life and mission. All members of the community are expected to communicate in language that reflects the equality of genders, openness to diverse cultural and theological perspectives, and sensitivity to one another’s images of God.

5) Extensions: Extensions for papers will be given for illnesses or family emergencies only in consultation with the instructor.
